

“Because when you love something,
every time a bit of it goes,
you lose a piece of yourself.”
From The Brave One

In December 1999, I took these images of the ACS Barker Road clock tower. Even though the rest of the school had been renovated, the clock tower was unchanged. To me, the clock tower represented a place where I had studied, played and grown up in. The following year, it was demolished along with the school.

Now in 2008, I am offering these black & white prints of the icon we love so much to the ACS family. Every time I see these photos, they help me remember. I hope they do the same for you.

How to order:

1. All images were shot on black & white film and printed with archival quality ink jet. The size of each image is 20cm x 27cm. Each print is mounted with a classic 30cm x 40cm white matting and black frame. Proportions and ratios are shown in the preceding pages. Each mounted print is priced at 80 euros (approx S$171). Delivery fees are charged separately.

2. Email Kar-Wai Wesley at wesley@memphiswest.com with these details:

a. Name.

b. Delivery address.

c. Names (eg. Clock tower 01) and number of prints you are interested in purchasing.

d. Type of payment (either via Paypal or Bank Transfer or Credit Card).

3. Each order should take no more than 2 weeks for processing and delivery. As I am residing in Paris, delivery fees and timing will differ depending on locality.

4. Special orders in different sizes are also possible. Kindly drop me an email to discuss.
